SOUTHARD IS CALLED TO GIVE TESTIMONY AGAINST HIS WIFE

Attempt Made to Have Him
Insured for $10,000 is Cited in Evidence

ASKED AS TO PAYMENTS

Depositions Will Be Introduced to Show That Insurance Was Sought

TWIN FALLS, Ida., Oct. 3.—Paul Vincent Southard, fifth husband of Mrs. Lydia Southard, will probably be called to the witness stand by the prosecution to give testimony against his wife in connection with an attempt she is said to have made to have him insured while they were living in Honolulu.

Although confidences between husband and wife are usually legally regarded as privileged communications, the state is subpoenaing Southard on the ground that Southard is not legally the husband of Mrs. Southard, his purported wife.

Southard, at the time he married Mrs. Southard in Los Angeles, in November, 1920, had only been divorced from his first wife by an interlocutory decree in June, 1920, by a decree awarded the wife in Anderson, Ind., according to Prosecuting Attorney Frank Stephens, who has the copies of the documents relating to the affair.

According to Indiana law, Stephens states, a year must elapse before the interlocutory decree is made final, and re-marriage permitted.

"It is our belief," stated Stephens, "that had the arrest of Mrs. Southard in Honolulu been delayed 30 days, there would have been another victim on the list."

According to the deposition of Detective Chief Wm. McDuffie of Honolulu, who investigated Southard's life with his wife in the Islands, Southard, about two weeks before his wife's arrest, applied for $10,000 insurance with the Prudential Insurance Company's agent in Honolulu.

Southard was told that he could not take out more than $5,000 worth because he was in military service. Southard, according to the deposition, told the agent that he wanted him to come to his apartment and "explain to his wife why he couldn't take out $10,000 worth of insurance."

The agent went to the apartment. Mrs. Southard, he said, inquired into the reasons closely and finally advised her husband to sign up for $5,000 worth, as that seemed to be the best he could do. At the same time, according to the agent, Mrs. Southard said to him:

"How soon after death does your company pay? The reason I ask is that I had a friend in Idaho whose husband was insured with the Idaho State Life, and when her husband died they paid up within a few days."

TAFT TAKES OFFICE AS HEAD SUPREME COURT TODAY

Former President Is "Happiest Man on Earth," He Declares

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The famous Taft smile took its place on the dignified bench of the United States Supreme Court today.

The judicial oath of office was administered to William Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States Supreme Court, shortly after the court convened, by Associate Justice McKenna. A large assemblage of official Washington was in the court for the ceremony including Attorney General Daugherty, former Attorney General Palmer, Senators Lodge and Borah, and a score of other congressmen.

Taft opened his service on the court by asking if there were any motions for admission to the bar. Attorney General Daugherty presented Solicitor General Beck, Miss Mabel Willebrandt, assistant attorney general, and other of his assistants.

"These are members of your official household," Taft remarked with a smile.

The Taft smile then found Senator Borah. He was recognized to move the admission of a friend. The chief justice called other senators and congressmen by name, as they rose to present various lawyers to the court.

He smiled broadly when some one moved the admission of another man named Taft.

"This is the greatest day of my life," Taft said after the court sessions, when friends rushed up to congratulate him again.

WITH RENTED FORD

According to the terms of the rental, the machine was to have been returned to the garage at noon Sunday.

Foley on Hats Today; Crane on Germany; James on Murder

You wouldn't think that straw hats and a conception that the earth is flat instead of round had any connection at all—but you will find that they have if you read Mr. Foley's interesting article this evening in "The Listening Post." It is on the editorial page.

Henry James discusses murder tonight in his comments. It is occasioned by the hanging of Carl Wanderer. He says that Wanderer knew right from wrong, that he was very cunning and scheming. You will find his article worth reading.

Dr. Frank Crane writes on "The New Germany." He says that Germany is in a fair way to win the war for the simple reason that she is prohibited from having an army or navy. Rather a new thought, which you will find interesting.

The character of future wars is discussed in an editorial; also the "Drive Like a Gentleman" campaign which a police judge has instituted, all of his own free will and accord.

Another editorial on Woolwine and the theft of automobiles will be found full of interest.

There is no better editorial page in the West than this paper is placing on your front steps every evening.

GARBAGE IS SUBJECT OF CITY COUNCIL MEETING TODAY

City Fathers Will Go Into
Regular Session at 5:30
This Afternoon

MAY MEET DURING DAY

Hope to Abolish Plan of Citizens Going to City Hall for Payment of Fees

Getting away from the old style of holding its meetings at night and sitting in session until nearly midnight the city council will hold a special meeting this afternoon at 5:30. This is the first daylight meeting to be held by that body and if it meets with the success that is expected, the system of meeting at 5:30 in the evening will be continued in place of the Thursday night sessions.

One of the matters to be discussed at the special meeting is the garbage question. According to the present ordinance, all residents are charged a fee of $1 per quarter to have garbage hauled away. This quarterly fee is charged whether the resident receives only one week of the entire quarter's service. An adjustment on the pro rata plan will be discussed by the councilmen and an attempt will be made to even up the charges.

Another matter to be discussed regarding the garbage question is that of abolishing the present system of having citizens come to the city hall each month, pay their fee and receive a tag as a receipt. This system works a hardship on both the citizens and the employees of the city clerk's office who are forced to issue tags in addition to other work. A plan has been suggested whereby the garbage fee will be abolished and an addition will be made to the annual tax sufficient to cover the cost of hauling away and disposing of the city's garbage.

LARGE DEPARTMENT STORE HERE SOON SAYS REPORT

Believed That Work Will Be Started Within Very Short
Time on Wilson-Brand

A department store building to be of five stories and to cost $250,000 will be constructed on the southwest corner of Wilson and Brand, according to a rumor in the city today. This building, it is stated, will be constructed of concrete and will be absolutely fireproof.

While no definite time, so far as is known, has been set for starting work on this building, it is understood that it will be commenced as soon as possible after the removal of the large residence now on the site. The actual work of removing this dwelling will be started soon, the preliminary work already being under way.

This building, which will be a very valuable addition to the business section when completed exclusively by strictly modern department store, of a character of Glendale, will be occupied by such stores as Los Angeles and other metropolitan cities might be proud.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Charges that retailers and manufacturers "in every state in the Union," are combined to maintain the present high prices were made by Senator King of Utah, in the Senate today, during consideration of the tax bill. King declared that the attorney general "should send thousands of these conspirators, who are responsible for the paralysis of trade, to the penitentiary." There will be no marked decline in prices nor a revival of business until the government takes action, King said.

PRESTON HOME IS HIGHTOWER FACES ROBBED WHILE THE FAMILY IS ABSENT

Jewelry and Linen Forms
Bulk of Loot Appropriated
by Housebreakers

T. W. Preston, 330 North Jackson street, reported to the police late yesterday that thieves had entered his home sometime Saturday evening and had taken several articles of clothing, a gold and platinum ring and a small gold and platinum bracelet.

The burglary of the Preston home might be classed as a "lingerie larceny," as the principal items on the list were articles of feminine wear.

The report of the burglary was made to the police department about 24 hours after the crime had been committed. Chief Martin assigned Officer Trautwein to make an investigation and it was learned that the thieves had entered the house through a rear window while the Preston family was at the beach.

Officers were detailed on the case and every effort is being made to run down the robbers. Chief Martin said, in speaking of the burglary, that the apprehension of the burglars would have been materially aided had an earlier report of the theft been made. WOMAN SEEMS IN BEST OF SPIRITS WHEN HIS TRIAL COMMENCED TODAY

REDWOOD CITY, Oct. 3.—Wm. A. Hightower went on trial here today for the alleged murder of Father Patrick Heslin, Colma priest.

Hightower, with his four attorneys, arrived early. He wore a blue serge suit, slightly wrinkled. He seemed in the best of spirits, not particularly troubled by the trial facing him.

"The case of the people of the state of California against Wm. A. Hightower." With those words, Superior Judge Buck opened the trial.

"Is the state ready?" District Attorney Swart, personally handling the trial, responded, "Ready."

"Is the defense ready?" "Yes, ready."

And the trial, which promises to be one of the most famous in the history of Colma, was on. Six women were called in the first box of prospective jurors.

Swart opened the questioning, asking Mrs. White several general questions. "Do you believe more than one person murdered Father Heslin?" Swart suddenly asked Mrs. White.

"I believe so."

Swart immediately asked that the woman be disqualified. The request was denied. The defense had won its first point.

Attorney Eamons, representing Hightower, barely questioned the woman. He seemed satisfied.

Nine of the taleman drawn had been temporarily passed by both defense and prosecution when court was adjourned at noon today. Five of them were women.

Swart asked every man and woman if he objected to circumstantial evidence and the death penalty. The defense asked each if he would give Hightower the benefit of every reasonable doubt. As the questioning continued Hightower showed signs of nervousness. He squirmed in his chair. For several minutes he sat resting his chin on his arm, gazing intently at the jurors. Then he twisted to see the crowd of spectators. A slight smile curled over his lips. Wm. Herron, one of his attorneys, showed him copies of a newspaper with the story of the discovery of Father Heslin's body.

MENTALITY TESTS FOUND BEST METHOD

In reviewing the evolution of schools in Los Angeles county and city, and the general trend of education, Arthur C. Brown, of this city, member of the county board of education and principal of McKinley High, points out that instead of lumping children together indiscriminately according to age and grade, mentality tests are being resorted to. Pupils are being grouped according to such standards, and as a result, the slow ones are not unduly hurried and the quick are not retarded.

Many schools that were intermediates are being converted into junior high schools and the change is favored by teachers, for in Los Angeles, junior high school teachers are paid the same salaries that senior high school teachers receive. School authorities figure that the demands made upon teachers are as great or greater than in the more advanced school. They realize it covers the fullest period of education and are inclined to leave school. If they can be waded over this irresponsibility age and carried through the ninth grade, they are apt to continue and go on to college. Junior highs get hold of pupils and are able to give work that interests him.

THOMPSON GIVES VIEWS ON HOUSES

C. H. Thompson, real estate agent, says of the local housing situation: "I have on an average of 12 requests for houses to rent every day and I have not more than three houses for rent within the past month. The supply of houses here is not more than one tenth of the demand."

"Rents are a little too high, due to the scarcity. In most cases the rent asked for a vacant house here is more than the average man can afford to pay and he is foolish to attempt to do so. He would be much better off if he would buy a piece of property and build a small house."

"It is too bad that there are landlords in Glendale who refuse to rent to people with children. There are, of course, two sides to this question but I believe that the ordinary wear and tear on property by children is to be expected by landlords and the owner of property should be willing to put up with this wear and tear."

"Of course there are some people who think that because they are renting property they are not responsible for any damage done by their children. It is these parents that are responsible for a great many landlords refusing to admit children to their houses."

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmothers made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep their locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so gently, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

A GORILLA LECTURE

By Dr. Frank Crane.

The arrival in the Congo has been announced of Mr. Carl Ackley, a naturalist of New York, who is accompanied by his secretary, Miss Miller, and a Chicago lawyer, Mr. Herbert Bradley, with whom is Mrs. Bradley, a lady of letters, and young Mrs. Bradley, who, if she were at home, might be designated in the society column as a "young lady at home," but being in the Congo would perhaps now have to sign her passport as a "young lady away from home."

Mr. Ackley and his troupe are going to hunt gorillas.

He is proposing to capture a collection of Congo apes, not to make a gallery of ancestors, but to study them scientifically.

All this I get from M. la Fouchiere's column, and he asks the quite pertinent question: "What if, instead of Ackley and company capturing the apes, the apes captured Ackley and company?"

What if, indeed! Can you imagine this collection of the genius homo in a cage and some learned gorilla explaining them to the little gorillas and to the students from the gorilla Baptist college up the river who had come to town to see the sights and especially the curious human freaks about which they had read so much in the Gorilla Tribune?

"These creatures," Professor George W. Gorilla, Ph. D., might say, "eat like gorillas. When eating an apple or a peanut they act almost gorilla."

"One difference is that they are fond of the half burned flesh of dead animals."

"They are very intelligent, and make with their hands things gorillas cannot make, just as birds build nests and bees construct honey cells, which we cannot do."

"On the contrary, however, (Copyrighted by Dr. Frank Crane)

CHAMBER COMMITTEE VISITS PROPOSED HIGH SCHOOL SITES

The committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to investigate proposed high school sites and make recommendations to the board of trustees of the high school district met Saturday afternoon. Chairman Peter L. Ferry announced the location of sites offered and the committee members discussed factors to be considered in selecting a location. They then made a tour of all the proposed sites.

Principal George U. Moyle was questioned concerning the preferred size of the campus and limitation of pupils. He indicated that 1500 is considered the limit for the best work, and expressed the belief that the rapid growth of Glendale will call for two high schools soon.

Concerning the size of the campus he mentioned, as an example, Pasadena, which had bought, in the first place, 25 acres for its high school, had enlarged that site to 30 acres, and is now considering the purchase of additional ground. He spoke of the desire of the board to increase the scope of the agricultural department and, in that connection, of the need of ground for practical work and demonstration.

Neatness to transportation was mentioned as a vital matter in considering locations, and the statement was made that the high school district last year spent $2500 for the transportation of students, the district including, besides Glendale, Eagle Rock, Montrose, La Crescenta, Monte Vista, Sunland and Glorietta.

Committee members who made the grand tour were Peter L. Ferry, chairman; Mrs. John Robert White, Mrs. Charles H. Hutchinson, C. W. Young, of Eagle Rock, J. E. Peters, James McBryde and H. V. Henry.

The Gray Site

The first visit was paid to the J. R. Gray site of 29 acres, with no streets put through. These the committee figured would cut down the acreage to 16 or 18 acres, for $67,500, with the cost of street work to be added. It lies between Doran and Patterson, with Kenilworth for its east boundary. On the north it faces the new city park. It is good level land and the objections raised were that it is not on a well-improved street, that its distance of eight-tenths of a mile from Brand puts it too far from transportation, and one member thought it too close to the Verdugo wash.

Thom Site

The objections to the Cameron Thom site on Jackson and Doran, of 20 acres for $85,000, were its irregular outline of 14 acres in one block with an L, and three detached acres on the north side of Doran, facing Isabel, in a narrow strip. Land has been dedicated for the continuation of Isabel and Howard streets through the site and would have to be abandoned by the city. Its west line is bounded by an alley, and it apparently fell short of reaching Glendale avenue. This, however, the committee will investigate further. It adjoins the Doran street school campus, and Principal Moyle, who accompanied the party, suggested the possibility of persuading the board of education to surrender that to the high school. Its chief merit was conceded to be its close-in location.

Ross-Luigi Site

Twenty acres to the north of Doran between Glendale avenue and Geneva in a solid block, at $4000 an acre owned by Judge Ross and Joe Luigi were next investigated and made quite a favorable impression on the committee. The land is in apricots at the present time. It apparently lacked 150 feet of reaching Doran street on the south. Except on the Glendale side, which has a frontage of 871 feet, considerable street work would be required. The same objection of being near the wash was raised here.

McOmber-Lukens Site

From this point the committee journeyed to the site at the corner of Broadway and Verdugo road, consisting of 18 acres, offered by J. Lewis McOmber and J. P. Lukens for $68,000 and two additional acres to complete the block offered by George Mishler for $5500.

A frontage of 1035 feet faces the beautiful Broadway boulevard, the Verdugo frontage being 1000 feet. It is a slightly location, commanding fine views, the land lies well, soil is good as is proved by the fine citrus or chards now upon it, and the acreage offered is all inside measurement, with no streets to be taken off. An additional advantage, which appealed strongly to several of the committee men and Principal Moyle is the excellent well on the property, with which Mr. Lukens irrigates his orchard and which he says pumps 25 to 30 inches of water night and day and which has never failed since he installed the pumping plant in 1900. It was argued that the water could be used for the irrigation of the campus and the agricultural work planned and for a swimming pool. The Broadway trolley terminus and the Eagle Rock line are each a block away. The south boundary lies within about 150 feet of Colorado street, which is improved with houses. The committee agreed, should the district favor this site, it would be very desirable to buy the Colorado frontage, if possible, so that the high school site would face three boulevards.

Campbell Site

The last proposition had been submitted by Arthur Campbell and consisted of a block of 28 acres at the southwest corner of Colorado and Verdugo road, running south to an extension of Maple avenue. Of this 12 1/2 acres, owned by the Pitts Investment Company, was priced at $38,500; 12 1/2 acres, owned by R. W. Meeker, at $51,000, and three acres owned by the board of education and known as the Eighth street site, at $7500, making a total of $97,000 for the whole. The distance from car lines was the principal objection raised to this proposition.

Some inquiries were made relative to property on the northeast corner of Verdugo and Broadway, but no definite information was forthcoming as to whether it is in the market or not.

Action Deferred

At the end of the inspection trip the committee conferred for a few moments and decided it wanted additional information relative to the exact boundaries of some of the proposed sites. It was therefore deemed advisable to have a sub-committee instructed to secure this information and the motion of James McBryde carried that Chairman Ferry act and select two others. Mr. Ferry named Mr. Peters and Mr. Young to serve with him, and set Thursday as the meeting time of the sub-committee and full committee to formulate a report to be submitted to the Chamber of Commerce the following Tuesday.

"THAT DAY" IS TOPIC OF SUNDAY'S SERMON

At the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning Rev. W. E. Edmonds preached on "That Day," using as a text, "For I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that He is able to keep that which I have committed unto Him (literally, placed on deposit with Him) against that day," and, "henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, shall give me at that day." (II Tim. 1:12, 4:8).

A resume follows: In the calendar of nations are great outstanding days, red-letter days. Much of our lives is centered around memorable anniversary days or days of great coming events, which overlook common existence. In Israel, such was the Year of Jubilee, every 50th year, wherein every debt was cancelled, every shackles fell, every loss restored, and all began anew.

We are looking forward as Christians to jubilee. Paul speaking to his dear Timothy says he has placed on deposit with Him his whole life; at "that day" he is going to get the reward, with interest—he is going to have a crown, a crown of rejoicing.

Paul often speaks of That Day. It is the day when Jesus is to come again—not figuratively, but literally, bodily. He came once, a babe; He grew, and walked about in humble manhood doing good. When He comes again at That Day it will be as King. You can't make Him king—He is already. Don't ask when that day is, we don't know; we do know that every day it is that much nearer.

When He comes it is not alone, a host is coming with Him; our loved ones are coming with Him. He is coming to bring full salvation. We have not yet entered into the fullness of the salvation that has been prepared, what we have had thus far has been but the foretaste. Ruskin says, you will find in any dirty factory yard after rain four elements—clay, silt, sand, water. Nature's transmutation given time enough, will change that clay into a sapphire, that sand into an opal, the silt into a diamond, the water into a dew-drop, most beautiful of all. Nature can do that. What can God do in transmuting the sinner with a ray of His sunlight when He comes?

And that day is a day of rewards. We are not now asking for rewards or prizes. Did you ever think of it, Paul has not yet received his crown? Nor Abraham, nor any of our loved ones. Together with them we are looking for the great day for our reward. You can't count up the interest accruing on what you "placed on deposit" with Him.

That day will be a day of restoration. The world is groaning and waiting for the promise, "I will make all things new." Step by step all human government has been a failure; the curse and blight of sin are everywhere. And it is going to be a day of accountability. The great bank-examiner is going to come. Is there anything in your books you don't want Him to see? A great vault door clicks on the time! You have securities within. Those are God's securities, and our responsibilities will face us. And what about your time, your feet, your all? To Him you must give account.

And Jesus Christ can't keep standing at the door knocking for entrance where no admittance yet has been given—He can't be waiting much longer; He must be going to meet His bride. Let Him in; behold, now is the accepted time, now is the day of salvation.

IT NEVER COMES.

"Seems to me Squiggly treated us rather coolly, considering how chummy he used to be with us in college. 'I thought he was cordial enough. Didn't he invite us to come up to his house for dinner some night?'
"Yes, but don't you know that 'some night' always means 'some other night'?"

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a Glass of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Troubles You

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, frequent of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acid in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

Truths in Epigram

it. — Sir Joshua
Reynolds (1723-92).

I do not believe that the state

ATTACKING WOOLWINE

Papers that supported Woolwine for district attorney perceive as yet no reason for regretting their course. It is true that in his absence an attack has been made upon him, the character of it at this writing still veiled. It may amount to nothing. It may be the expression of personal prejudice. Of this little is to be said until the charges have been freed of secrecy, and the reply of the official assailed has become of record.

There is no doubt that Woolwine has vehement enemies, and that some of the enemies are highly creditable to him. He has sought to enforce the law, and opposition to this course has been bitter. In instances it has overcome the full strength that Woolwine was able to put forth. In the case of "Big Hutch," a notorious bunko man whom Woolwine convicted against great odds and despite chicanery on the part of the opposition, the prisoner soon got his liberty on bail. He has since been arrested on another charge, but he still is far from the penitentiary where he belongs.

A group of criminal lawyers scheming to defeat the ends of justice and overturn the law, and make a mockery of judicial processes, may not be indicted for conspiracy, but it is possible often for a district attorney to thwart their plots. This naturally has the effect of creating in their minds a disesteem for him. That anything of this nature figures in the veiled charges against Woolwine, is not known, but if it should prove to be the truth, the accusers could not come into court with lily white hands, and might find their purposes thwarted again.

THEFT OF AUTOS

From all over the country come reports of increased thefts of autos. The figures relating to Los Angeles will be of more interest here than those concerning New York.

During the present year 1800 autos were stolen in Los Angeles. Such was the figure printed Saturday. Of course it has been increased by this time. In September alone the total was 244 compared with 164 for the corresponding month of last year. Larceny is looking up.

Some of the machines are stolen for the purpose of joy riding, the thieves looking upon the episode as a prank, an illusive view which the courts have shown an inclination to share. Hence the persistence of joy riding.

There are men who make a business of barter in stolen autos. They seem to be well organized, to be in partnership with repair and accessory shops of respectable standing. They have chosen this line of endeavor as marked by quick returns, from the sale of the machines.

It is frequent for thieves who do not intend to sell the machine, to steal it as a mere adjunct to their regular calling, which is banditry. Having held up a satisfactory number of victims, they are quite content to abandon the auto, or not averse to wrecking it.

Part of the blame for the vast loss in stolen autos rests upon the owners. Some owners are careless, not taking even the most ordinary precautions. Occasionally the theft is looked upon as a boon, by reason of insurance, but this is exceptional. Autos are stolen because of the ease and profit of the operation, and the apparent reluctance of the courts to view the matter as serious.

CHARACTER OF FUTURE WAR

Raymond Robbins, speaking at Chicago, told of the horrors of the next war as he conceived them. He drew a dreadful picture, but far greater thinkers than Robbins had drawn the picture first.

There was a time when the pacifist in this country was to be differentiated from the disloyal only by a tenuous thread not always quite appreciable to the observer. The pacifism of the present, taking the form of opposing future war, presents an aspect wholly unlike that which played into the hands of a rampant Germany. Its aim is to prevent the suicide of civilization.

The Robbins estimate that a war on a world scale now would cause the deaths of thirty millions of people, and turn government over to the yellow race, of course is not to be accepted as accurate, but the mortality list might as easily be above as below his guess. With the horrid possibilities due to perfection in the instruments of destruction, no assurance could be given that another world war would not end in the extermination of whole nations literally. The poison bomb that could wipe out all life in the largest city, would at the same time kill all vegetation, and render the soil incapable of producing.

There are snakes that enraged will sting themselves to death. In planning a war, or in tolerating processes that might lead to another war, civilization would be displaying an intelligence not superior to that of the enraged serpent.

Realization of these facts is causing the nations to look towards the disarmament conference with intense hope. If they cannot agree there to cease making war their chief interest, the prospects will be that the race of this civilization is about run. It will show that it is getting ready to sting itself to death.

Nations recently aligned as allies in a notable struggle should have for each other nothing but the friendliest feelings. That there should be plotting amongst them for the undoing of any of them, is a monstrous theory. If they do stand together they will be strong enough to enforce peace, at least outside of Russia, where peace is likely to eventuate from inanition.

But if these nations cannot agree upon a certain lessening of armament; if some of them persist in the policy of conquest; if there is continued rivalry as to maintenance of the greatest army and navy, war will ensue as sure as the sun continues to rise. Civilization knows this, and if so knowing, shall refuse to take steps to prevent war, will be going down to death and chaos, a failure, deserving no better fate.

DRIVING LIKE GENTLEMEN

In addressing a number of violators of traffic laws, a judge counseled each of them to drive "like a gentleman." Adoption of this rule would do much to promote public safety. It would remove from the highways a serious and yet easily cured danger. Of course the rule would require similar conduct on the part of women, each of whom would deport herself while at the wheel, as a lady.

A rather defective dictionary gives as the main definition of "gentleman": "One who is entitled to bear a coat of arms." This might have been adequate in "days of old when knights were bold." Then the gentlemanly, pate was protected by an iron pot lest some other gentlemen, approaching from behind, divide the head of the first gentleman by a brave stroke of the halberd.

With the passing years the term has come to have a new significance. To express this significance in a few words might be difficult, and yet all recognize in an individual the qualities that make the gentleman. If such qualities are absent, that fact also is plain.

Thus when a judge says that a driver ought to drive "like a gentleman" the meaning is clear. To be a gentleman implies an unselfish courtesy, a consideration for the rights of others, a concern for the welfare of others.

Such a code would involve a veritable revolution in the conduct of traffic in street and highway. It would not bring about a change in the real gentleman. Doubtless he drives now and has to take chances. The proposed reformation would be on the part of the non-gentleman. He is not asked to be a gentleman, but only to "drive like" one. Which is not an unreasonable request.

THE NEW GERMANY

By Dr. Frank Crane.

I have already called attention to the fact that Germany, which lost the war, is in a fair way to win the peace.

For the simplest of all reasons.

It is prohibited from having an army and navy.

Which reacts upon a nation very much as prohibiting his bottle acts on a drunkard. The country blossoms forth in prodigious prosperity, just as the man becomes strong and healthy.

Take an industrious, capable people like the Germans, and remove the horrible incubus of militarism, which was always drawing its blood, emptying its coffers, and throttling its progress, and put these people into competition say with the French, who are still keeping a million idlers in uniform, more or less, and any child can see what will happen in ten years.

All the money Germany has to pay in reparations, all the territory she lost, Alsace, Lorraine and her colonies, and all the men she had killed and crippled will not begin to balance against the tremendous advantage she will have, in the race of nations, by being rid of her bloodsucking military leech.

The blinded nations which conquered Germany are riding headlong to the ditch. Japan, the United States, Great Britain and France, because they are too insane to get together and throw down their arms, are still pouring billions into the sewer of war preparedness, will, unless they change, find themselves, almost within the time of one generation, outstripped by the new Germany.

For any nation that has vision enough to abandon armament will outstrip the others. Germany has not the vision, but destiny seemed to have forced the program upon her.

News reports indicate that Germany is about to enter a period of great industrial "boom." Leading brokers report increases in dealings from 3 to 1000 per cent. Fresh evidence of the activity of the German shipping industry is accumulating. The Hamburg-American Line is making a great bid for American traffic, and is shortly putting in commission the 12,000-ton Bayern, built at Bremen in the Vulcan works; the 15,000-ton Hansa, built at Hamburg in the Vulcan works, and in the early autumn a third ship, the Wurttemberg, 12,000 tons. All three will be used on the Hamburg-New York service. For the first time since the war the Hamburg-American Line is issuing a bulky time-table containing the sailings of its own and subsidiary lines.

The German potash industry reports unprecedented activity, though the price has recently increased.

The orgy of speculation representing Germany's ever-increasing prosperity has caused the Berlin stock exchange to be closed for two days in every week. Banks, brokers and jobbers are swamped with thousands of orders, and clients are stampeding to participate in the great boom in industrial shares. Hundreds of extra clerks are being engaged, working far into the night to cope with the overwhelming rush of buying and selling orders. So runs the world away!

THE LISTENING POST

A great many years ago people said the earth was flat.
And we have to admit it looks flat.
It looks like a plane surface with a hemisphere of blue over it.
If you don't believe it, look at it.
The only evidence you have that it is round, in most cases, is that it is so stated in the school books.

Of course, if you start out in either an easterly or a westerly direction and travel straight ahead, you will come back to the starting point.
But you have never done that.
And you could not if you would.
You would have to travel by train or boat and you would have no means of knowing whether you were traveling straight ahead or not.

So, in the end of it all, you would have to take somebody's word for it.
As we have to do all through life.
We take the waiter's word that the steak is good.
We take the bond salesman's word that the bond is good.

We take the doctor's word for things having to do with health and disease.
The lawyer's word for matters of law and estate and will and all that.
The builder's word for material and foundation and construction.
We take somebody's word for pretty much everything.

Because we cannot possibly know all things ourselves.
We are dependent on each other.
We live much by faith.
And precedent.
And convention.

But in the old days when nearly everybody said the earth was flat, some inquiring souls did not believe. And they went about saying: "It is round! It is round!"

And they were unpopular in certain circles of established belief.
Because established belief dislikes to be shaken. Especially if it is making a good living out of belief.

And they made it pretty warm for the dissenters. As established belief has often done.
But from dissent has come progress.
And the dissenters about the shape of the earth brought us knowledge.
Enabled us to travel around the world and make discoveries.

SONGS OF THE POETS

The Question Whither.—By George Meredith (1828-1908).

When we have thrown off this old suit,
So much in need of mending,
To sink among the naked mute,
Is that, think you, our ending?
We follow many, more we lead,
And you who sadly turf us,
Believe not that all living seed
Must flower above the surface.

Sensation is a gracious gift,
But were it cramped to station,
The prayer to have it cast adrift
Would spout from all sensation.

Meredith, far more renowned for his prose than his poetry, was the author of a number of verses that will long survive. His style to modern readers seems somewhat obscure, but this does not prevent the perpetuation of his name as that of a great writer.

Enough if we have winked to sun,
Have sped the plow a season;
There is a soul for labor done,
Endureth fixed as reason.

Then let our trust be firm in God,
Though we be of the fasting;
Our questions are a mortal brood,
Our work is everlasting.
We children of Beneficence
Are in its being shapers;
And Whither vainer sounds than Whence,
For word with such wayfarers.

eis seems somewhat obscure, but this does not prevent the perpetuation of his name as that of a great writer.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

TRIBUTE TO CHAPLIN

[Philadelphia Public Ledger]

When the war was on, Chaplin, though silent, was a prime benefactor of the trenches, of the men on leave and of the wounded. He won the gratitude of those who faced hell-fire and shell-fire. He brought the ridiculous, refreshing contrast. He had the effect of Kipling's banjo in the poem: he could, as though by magic, make an atmosphere far from the poison-gas, the mud and the screech and detonation of the shells. The work of the fun-maker was not over with the armistice. We need the humor to which Dr. John Hutton adverted when he preached here on Sunday. The world rewards those who bring it an honest and an innocent amusement.

COLORADO PESSIMIST

[Washington Star]

Former Senator Thomas of Colorado is mistaken. The country is not as close to smash as he seems to think. We are going through "hard trials and great tribulations." But we have had such an experience before—several times before. We have shown the capacity to ride out a storm. We shall show it again. There is a vigorous comeback in the American people. They are a hundred million strong, and control an empire second to none on earth in rich resources.

TAX LAWS' REVISION

The tax laws need revising more than the bank laws. There is ample credit, even excess capacity of credit.

Comment on the News

By HENRY JAMES

Carl Wanderer was hanged in Chicago Friday. On the scaffold he sang a sentimental song about his "old pal," by this term meaning the wife whom he had murdered. He had planned the murder deliberately, and with considerable elaboration. Desiring for some reason to get rid of his wife and unborn child, he hired a tramp to make a pretense of robbing him in the presence of the woman. This gave Wanderer a chance to shoot her, and then to close the lips of his fellow plotter, he killed the tramp. For a brief time he had opportunity to pose as a hero, the supposition of course being that the tramp had killed the woman and then been slain by Wanderer. However, the criminal confessed even to the point of having "double crossed" the tramp. Later he recanted as to the confession, and played crazy for a time. A silly jury returned such a verdict in regard to the killing of the wife that the court could name a sentence of only twenty-five years. A jury of greater brain power found him guilty of first degree murder in the case of the tramp.

Viewing all aspects of the tragedy, it is impossible to regard the man as normal mentally. Nevertheless he was responsible. He knew what he wanted to do, and very cunningly carried out the scheme. In a sense he was the victim of circumstances. So in any man who has been born with a quirk in his brain that predisposes him to crime. A man born with one leg shorter than the other is not the victim of a fault, at least not of his own fault, and yet there is no way for him to evade the consequences. He has to walk with a limp, and achievement as a sprinter is not possible to him. When years ago Durrant tortured and killed two fair young girls in San Francisco, everybody knew that he was not normal. He was a monster. Society put him out of the way because he was a monster, and felt easier when he had gone.

Wanderer and Durrant both knew right from wrong. This was enough to bring upon them full condemnation for their acts. Even a far lower type of intelligence than they possessed may be taught the folly of yielding to criminal impulse, although it may be necessary to instruct them fully that to the commission of wrong there attaches a penalty.

Arthur Brisbane has it all figured out that in the future the chief method of travel will be by airships flying at a height of six miles and seldom descending. Little airships will act as roadsters, as bus lines now serve trolleys in some sections. Before there had been an airship, Rudyard Kipling had figured along similar lines, with the difference that his conclusions had the savor of common sense. Human beings are not temperamentally fit for existing long at the six-mile altitude, yet doubtless they might overcome this lack in time were there any possible reason for doing so, which there is not, even in the imagination.

Municipal ownership of all transit lines is proposed for New York. That would be a considerable lump of property to be entrusted to a municipality accustomed to the sort of management New York usually has. The idea might have pleased Tweed, and have seemed fine to Crocker. It is true perhaps that New York has neither a Tweed nor a Crocker at present so far as known, but the character of those two distinguished publicists and looters was not fully understood while they were busiest. Seen through the mellowing years, the revelation is complete.

New York has its first bread-line since 1914. The little incident gives the conference on unemployment something specific about which to think.

Experimenters say they have discovered a system of preserving the human body indefinitely just as it appeared when breath left it. The best thing they could do with their system would be to lose the formula and forget it. The human body that has been lived in and died in has performed all its functions, and kindness permits it to return to dust speedily as may be.

The government has just made a test of the most deadly bomb ever devised. It cost many thousands of dollars. It would be capable of obliterating a regiment. Thus does a great civilization take giant strides. But are they forward strides?

MISS INGLEDUE IS HONOREE SATURDAY

One of the pretty affairs of the week, when Miss Doris Ingledue was the honoree, was given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. A. Burchfield and Miss Margaret Burchfield at their home, 642 North Kenwood street.

When the guests arrived they were invited to take needles and help tie a handsome comforter, which was later presented to Miss Ingledue, and then a game of Pit was enjoyed, in which Miss Helen Ingledue captured the first prize, a lovely little glass creamer and sugar bowl to match.

The consolation prize, a dainty handkerchief, went to Miss Helen Stowe. Both gifts were presented by the recipients to the guest of honor.

A delicious luncheon was served at tables gay with fall flowers and smart appointments. At each plate was a scroll tied with pink baby ribbon, which, upon being unrolled, revealed the fortune of the guest to whom it had been assigned. Before the ladies left the table, Mrs. Burchfield entered the dining room with a collection of parcels tied with ribbon, which looked decidedly interesting, and placed them before Miss Ingledue. When opened they proved to be a collection of beautiful gifts of a miscellaneous character.

The ladies for whom covers were laid were Miss Doris Ingledue, Miss Helen Ingledue, Mrs. C. W. Ingledue, Miss Helen Stowe, Mrs. T. Gregory, Mrs. S. H. Fish, Mrs. Laura Whitney, Mrs. Sarah Thomas, Mrs. W. D. McClellan, of La Verne, Mrs. Ernest Wolber and the hostess.

Miss Doris Ingledue is to become the bride of Ellis Thomas on October 11, and will have a quiet wedding at the home of her parents on East Wilson avenue.

DINNER PARTY AT ROBERTS' HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Roberts entertained a group of relatives at Sunday dinner in the beautiful home on East Elk avenue. Gorgeous dahlias decorated the table.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Archer, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Peck and the host and hostess. A social afternoon followed the dinner.

EASTERN STAR TO HAVE SESSION

The social club of Glen Eyrle Chapter, Eastern Star, will be entertained Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Arthur Dibern on North Orange street, when Mesdames Sallo Braden, W. F. Rattray and Warren Roberts will act as assisting hostesses.

The luncheon, which will be served at 12:30, will be followed by a business session and social afternoon.

PROGRESSIVE PARTY FOR BRIDE-TO-BE

Ellis Thomas and his prospective bride, Miss Doris Ingledue, were guests of honor at a progressive party Friday night, which began at the home of Mr. Thomas' grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Keim, 342 West California. There a cafeteria supper was served to about 36 invited guests.

and at its conclusion, the company adjourned to the home of Mr. Thomas' mother, Mrs. Sarah Thomas, at 338 West California.

The living room decorations, which were white, climaxed in a large white wedding bell, which hung in one corner. Green foliage and pink flowers featured the floral embellishment of the dining room.

Guests were entertained with violin numbers by Miss Genevieve Mulligan, piano selections by Mrs. W. A. Haines and readings by Miss Mulligan and Miss Zorah Glassey.

Following this pleasant program Mrs. Thomas presented her son and prospective daughter-in-law with large suit boxes, telling them the boxes contained articles they would need on the trip they are so soon to take. When they were opened the recipients found many beautiful and useful gifts.

Following this presentation, refreshments of ice cream and cake were served, the cake being a large and beautifully frosted confection made by Mrs. W. D. McClellan, of La Verne, sister of Mrs. Thomas. It served as a pedestal for a miniature bride and groom, and was cut by Miss Ingledue.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS PROGRESSIVE PARTY

The Soandetaha Camp Fire Girls entertained Saturday at a delightful "progressive" party. The guests met at the home of Miss Alice Farrow at 214 West Doran street, where a business meeting was held, and from there they went to the home of Miss Dorothy Watson, 526 North Central avenue, where "Bunko" was played.

The first prize was won by Miss Elowene Truitt. At 11:30 the party went to the home of Miss Emma Laura Cooper, 302 North Central avenue. A two-course luncheon was followed by dancing.

The guests included Miss Josephine Farnham, Miss Mildred Thompson, Miss Jaunita Mulliken, Miss Sarah Allen, Miss Dorothy Watson, Miss Margaret Wilson, Miss Regina Strafer, Miss Mary Cook, Miss Katherine Guthrie, Miss Emma Laura Cooper, Miss Flora May McGhee and the in- and the invited guests, Miss Elowene Truitt and Miss Marie Hearnshaw.

They were seated at a large round table, very smartly appointed, in a dining room which commanded a magnificent view of the San Fernando valley, and following the luncheon, the party enjoyed strolls about the beautiful grounds of the club and an afternoon of visiting.

It was the anniversary of Mrs. Patterson's natal day, a fact which she thought she had kept very secret, but it leaked out and she was the recipient of many lovely floral tributes and several gifts.

Guests of honor were the sister and niece of the hostess, Mrs. David English and daughter, Mrs. Ethel Oliver, who have recently come to Glendale from the East and are living on Ivy street. The Barton Bedtime Stories

Tad Coon Keeps His Word

By JOHN BARTON

(Copyright, 1921, by The Associated Newspapers.)

Yes, the Wicked Little Brook was planning to play a trick on Chips Beaver. But the harder it tried the more it was bound to help him.

Right now he needed help. He had put up his dam which turned the Little Dark Pool into Chips Beaver's Pond in such a hurry he had drowned out his own new hole. He had no place to sleep. And he was far too tired, and the night was far done (that's when he works, you know) to think of digging another one. But with old Mom Mink and her three half-grown kittens just round the bend of the stream how could he sleep in the open?

"I'll tell you," volunteered kind Tad Coon, who had taken a great fancy to him. "Those minks are a lot more scared of me than I am of them. If we snuggle up together over in the brush they'll leave us alone?" This was Nibble Rabbit and Thunderpaw the Skunk.

"Not me!" Nibble shook his long ears decidedly. "I'm mink food. They simply couldn't leave you alone if I was along."

"Not me!" Thunderpaw was really regretful. "I'd like to. But something kind of tells me I'd better go along with Nibble to Dr. Muskrat's Pond. We'll be back this evening. Maybe the old doctor will come along and take a look at what we've done. It sure would surprise him."

"Bring him! Bring him!" urged Tad. He was kind of sorry, now, that he'd spoken so soon. But he wouldn't go back on his promise. Anyway he wouldn't feel so lonely and scary after he got to sleep. So by the time Nibble's tuftly white tail and Thunderpaw's long trailly one had disappeared, he and Chips were hunting for a bedroom.

They found the little grapevine tent where Louie Thomson and Tommy Peele and Watch the Dog had snuggled away from the cloudburst, but he didn't like it. He wanted a good, tall tree-trunk right close by him—in case of trouble, you know. And Chips wanted to be near the water, for the same reason. So they finally settled down at the foot of the willow tree.

So They Finally Settled Down at the Foot of a Willow Tree where the waterfall used to tumble into the Little Dark Pool—before Chips drowned it in his Pond. In the twitch of a whisker they were fast asleep and dreaming.

My how they did dream! They dreamed of the fight they'd just had with the Wicked Little Brook. And it all seemed so real to them that they didn't wake up when the waterfall gradually began its giggling, harder and harder, until it was laughing right out loud again. It hadn't stayed drowned very long!

BATTERY TROUBLES ARE EASILY SOLVED

The three principal cars owned by the man of moderate income have been made more efficient at the same time their prices have been reduced. Not only has the cost of the motor itself been cut down, but a new battery, which gives it greater range of power, has been marketed for these sturdy, moderate-priced cars.

This battery is the product of the Philadelphia Storage Battery Company. It is known and patented, under the name of the Philadelphia Diamond Grid Battery. Its salient features are a Quarter Sawed Hard Wood Separator plus a whole year's guarantee of continuous performance.

There has never been any question, since the demonstration of the utility of Dodges, Fords and Buicks, as to their desirability.

With the new battery, built as a result of the increased efficiency gained by the engineering experience of the trained staff of the Philadelphia Storage Battery Company, these machines can eliminate the disappointment of uncertain starting and lighting.

The Psenner-Doll Auto Electric Company has the local agency for this remarkable improvement in motor-dom, which, strangely enough, is being sold at a lower price than the manufacturers were obliged to ask prior to 1914, thus meeting a general demand for a special Ford, Dodge and Buick Battery at a popular price.

SHERIFF'S POSSE IN CLASH WITH KLAN

Citizens of Lorena, Texas, Hold Sheriff to Blame for Trouble Today

WACO, Tex., Oct. 3.—Lorena, the little town near here, was the scene of a battle between members of the Ku Klux Klan and a posse led by Sheriff Bob Buchanan, and was split in opposing camps today.

In the teeth of the resolution of 100 citizens which had held Sheriff Buchanan to blame for the riot Saturday night, which ten persons were injured, County Attorney F. B. They announced that a grand jury investigation would be held as soon as possible.

Four of the ten were shot or stabbed when the sheriff attempted to stop the parade of the Klan, were in a serious condition. They were Sheriff Buchanan, Louis Crow, Policeman Ed Howard and Carl West. The others were only slightly injured.

Word reached here today of the offer of Governor Neff of Texas to give the aid of the State in investigating the riots. County Attorney They refused the offer, it is said, and announced he was able to cope with the situation.

DIVORCE PROBLEM IS NOT IMPORTANT

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—"Divorce is a comparatively unimportant problem and the church, if it will live, must concern itself with the big issues of living in the modern world."

"Unemployment, disarmament, equal rights for women, are the things with which the church must concern itself. Women should be given the right to preach from the pulpits of the Episcopal church."

These and other broadsheets were fired at traditional churchmanship by Dr. Percy Stickney Grant on his 29th anniversary as rector of the Church of the Ascension, Sunday.

MRS. CLARA ARNOLD FUNERAL SATURDAY

Rev. C. R. Norton of this city was called upon Saturday to officiate at the funeral of Clara Paine Arnold, a sister of George T. Paine of this city. Deceased was born in Centralia, Ill., in 1865, and spent the greater part of her life in South Dakota, coming to Los Angeles three years ago.

Deceased is survived by her husband, Emmett F. Arnold, one sister, two brothers, and three children. Mrs. Arnold had belonged to the Methodist Episcopal Church for 40 years and was an active member of the Royal Neighbors of Los Angeles. Her funeral, which took place at the Breeze parlors, was largely attended.

"Martha Malicia Goes Shopping"

SOMETHING NEW, different, and the most temptingly delicious morsel I've tasted for some time is the new Holland Dutch Sugar Bread at the FANCY BAKERY, 142 North Brand Blvd. It is, in some ways, similar to a delectable coffee cake but it is really far more delicious. Instead of the time-honored raisins which so many people object to in the cakes, Mr. Walmas has introduced the use of citron and lemon—and you can't imagine anything better! The citron seems to be candied and cut into tiny little squares, scattered throughout the loaf. The other distinctive ingredients are loaf sugar and a generous sprinkling of cinnamon throughout! It is baked in loaf form, as its name, Holland Dutch Sugar Bread would imply—and really, to me, it is good enough to eat without butter. For the morning meal, served with a steaming hot cup of coffee, I can't think of anything simpler or more appetizing to start the day! It is only 20c a loaf—and worth every penny of it! Get a loaf today at the Fancy Bakery and try it tomorrow for breakfast—I know you'll agree with me!

Lace is also frequently veiled or half veiled, as in a blouse on semi-corded lines, with an orange and blue embroidered net forming the straight sleeves and a deep band around the waist, half covered by the straight jacket-like chiffon of the upper blouse, striped longitudinally with beads.

DON'T WORRY even though your woodwork and furniture has apparently lost its original lustre, or has become scratched and marred with years of use, for with a very small expense it can be made to look like new! It's Patton's Varnishes at STEVEN'S PAINT STORE, 219 1/2 East Broadway that will work such wonders! This Sole-Proof Varnish is excellent for refinishing shabby looking woodwork, dressing tables, and other furniture, and it comes in twenty colors, including the popular ivory and several shades of oak and mahogany! You will find Mr. Stevens most courteous and more than glad to advise and help you in any way possible!

At present the preference for wide sleeves, whether three-quarter or full length, is greatly in evidence, although a great many handsomely attired women still adhere to the snug fitting short sleeve.

A cape back is shown with long tassels on a black velvet model and one entire model is of the pressed pile fabric which suggests a flat fur line!

Canton crepe remains the favorite material for daytime frocks and often is combined with monkey, in fact, monkey is employed as a trimming, for every form of outdoor apparel.

IT'S SURPRISING how much one can save by having furniture made over! And not at the sacrifice of original beauty, either! The chairs which the GLENDALE CARPET AND MATTRESS WORKS make over in their shop at 1411 South San Fernando road! would bring about three times their actual cost, now! They will re-finish the wood, making highly polished frames, straightening all the funny old fashioned curls and curves, and then re-upholster them to match the rest of your furniture!

Most of the models shown abroad were either capes or straight line coats.

CAN YOU IMAGINE a BIRTHDAY without a bee-u-tiful birthday cake—with candles n'everything? Half of the joy of the celebration is the hushed silence while the "Rite of the Candle Blowing" is being solemnly performed, isn't it? And what little Miss, or gay little Cavalier wouldn't go into ecstasies over the wonderful birthday cake that I saw at the ELITE SWEET SHOPPE, 134 South Brand Blvd., today. It has a dainty wreath of pink and white rosebuds on the snow-white frosting and little rosebud holders for the pink candles, while on the top was written in pink frosting—Many Happy Returns of the Day! Leave your order at the Elite a day or so before the party, and they will make a cake to order for you—in any color and size and you may select your decorations, too!

An interesting frock of champagne cloth is cut in the same curved coat line as some of the models already mentioned, the drape held up with a button at the left side, and sleeves and hem are bordered with brown fur.

JAMES W. PEARSON, 128 N. Brand Blvd., has a cozy six-room bungalow on North Isabel street which he will sacrifice for only $6,600—and of that, but $1,500 must be cash! It is the "homey" sort of a house, with a cheerful fireplace in a large, comfortable living room, a large dining room and three bedrooms! The lot has been greatly improved with fruit trees, shrubbery, and a lovely lawn! See it today!

An upturned brim of graduated width with the soft fold of the velvet double at the edge shows a silver snake coiled in the folds, the head and tail of metal with tinsel shaded effect for the body.

JELLY FRITTERS

MAKE A BATTER of two eggs, a pint of milk, and a pint bowl of wheat flour or more, beat it light; put a tablespoonful of lard or beef fat in a frying or omelet pan, add a saltspoonful of salt, make it boiling hot, put in the batter by the large spoonful, not too close; when one side is a delicate brown, turn the other; when done, take them onto a dish with a dolly over it, put a dessertspoonful of firm jelly or jam on each and serve.

A black cloth frock shows yokes, sleeves and panels cut in deep point of caracul cloth, purple ornaments breaking the line of black at the waist. A green broadcloth model shows the same hem finish with an embroidered sleeve, very tight at the wrist and very full above.

A FIXTURE that should appeal to the entire family is the built-in shower, sold by the GLENDALE PLUMBING CO., 134 South Orange street. It gives service, in two ways, for the head shower may be used independently of or to be used with the shoulder shower! The shoulder shower is round, and perforated on the under side with small openings through which the water sprays—so that you may bathe without wetting the hair, using only the shoulder shower. Then, there is the built-in shower with the shampoo—so that the woman with an abundance of hair need no longer consider the washing of it in the light of an ordeal when this convenient fixture can be so readily and inexpensively installed over the side of a built-in bath. All of the sprays, including the shampoo, are controlled by solid china cross handles for both hot and cold water! Mr. Sheehy will figure on the work and, I know, install the fixtures exceptionally well, and reasonably, for you. Call the Glendale Plumbing Co., today!

Black panne and cire are used by Lewis in a model having the crown in sections, while the off the face brim, wide at the sides, has a band of jet and steel ornaments and a novel drape of lace pleated at the sides and falling under the chin.

LIGHT SERVES A DOUBLE PURPOSE IN THE HOME! As a utility, it ranks with food, shelter and heat. As an artistic medium, it outclasses the elements in draperies, rugs, pictures and bric-a-brac. The spirit of the home is expressed largely in its lighting; which may be calm, cheerful or cold, gay, glaring or gloomy! Yes, variety is the spice of lighting! Today plenty of appropriate fixtures, numerous portable arrangements and adequate control makes it possible to change the lighting to meet the varied requirements and to enjoy its possibilities! On the other hand, antiquated fixtures designed and put up with a lack of convenient outlets for portable lamps stand in the way of enjoying the comfort and charming effects of modern lighting. By having the JEWEL ELECTRIC CO. replace your old fixtures and provide a few portable lamps, your home will radiate an entirely new spirit. The result will surely convince you that proper lighting is more effective in proportion to its cost than decoration and furnishing. And the prices at the Jewel Electric Co., 300 E. Broadway, as well as the lamps and bulbs are exceptionally low!

GLENDAL MAN IS NAMED TREASURER

Horseshoe Pitchers in Session in This City Have Large Meeting of Enthusiasts

W. H. Nicolls of Glendale was elected treasurer of the State Horseshoe Pitchers' Association at the convention held in the council chamber of the Glendale city hall Saturday afternoon. Other officers elected for the year were Gilman Hogt, of Long Beach, re-elected president, and Geo. E. Krimble, also of Long Beach, secretary.

The Long Beach delegation brought five pitiful teams to the convention and played a series of 50 games on the Glendale grounds against a combination of the Glendale and Pasadena teams. Long Beach won the series by walking away with 42 of the 50 games. Pettit of Glendale made the high score for the day by making 54 rangers. At the business meeting it was decided that the association would hold a state convention some time this fall. The date and location of this meeting will be decided on at a later meeting.

REV. TALBOT TELLS NEAR EAST FAME

Rev. E. Guy Talbot, who occupied the pulpit at the First Methodist Church, Sunday morning, confirmed in harrowing details reports of famine and suffering in the Near-East, which was his theme, and which he says is but another name for Bible lands which are sacred to Christians.

Conditions there are worse, he declared, than at any other period of history, because since the armistice the land has been over-run by the Turks and then by the armies of soviet Russia, which is now in control. The wholesale deportation of Greeks and Armenians by the Turks to be massacred, leaving behind them thousands of children starving and shelterless, have brought about a most terrible condition. So great is the death rate that officials make the rounds of the streets twice a day to gather up the dead.

Mr. Talbot says his own feeling alternates between absolute despair and hope that at least some of the children may be saved to repopulate the land.

He described distressed conditions prevailing in Serbia and Bulgaria following the armistice, but a stable government there has made possible a revival and those peoples "have come back," as he expressed the situation. The fields were green with abundant crops when the last saw them and more building was in progress than in any other part of Europe, more even than in the United States. He argued that under a stable government the near-East also could "come back," and that "Christianity is under an obligation to that sacred soil to save the remnant of its children from perishing of want if it is possible to salvage them."

O. C. LANES WRITE OF EASTERN TRIP

The Glendale Daily Press is in receipt of a letter from Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Lane of 327 Vine street, this city, now in the East, which says in part:

"We are now in Leamington, Ohio, the birthplace of Mr. Lane, where he spent his childhood. It is a very pretty little town, with many streets, and just outside from Lake Erie. Around it are thousands of acres planted to tobacco, tomatoes and corn. Everybody seems prosperous and there is plenty of money in circulation."

"The middle of August we went to Toronto to attend the exposition, visiting Niagara Falls on the way. We intend going to Detroit for a short visit. Both of us are feeling fine and think the trip is doing us a lot of good."

"We shall go to Chicago for a short visit and from there go on to New Orleans, Houston and then home, reaching Glendale the latter part of October."

"Later in the season we expect some of the friends we have seen here to visit us and learn something about our fine Southern California climate."

GLENDAL PRESS MAN MEETS RELATIVES

Seven years spent on the Pacific coast looking for relatives and to find them living in Glendale is the experience of E. M. Kinney, employee of the Glendale Daily Press. Mr. Kinney has been connected with newspapers on the Pacific coast for the last seven years. He knew that he had some relatives in the West and was constantly looking for them.

A few days ago he met Alvin Van Wimmer, 320 West California street, who is one of the missing relatives and learned that all of his relatives who had come West were living in Glendale. Other relatives located in Glendale by Mr. Kinney. Due to the meeting with Mr. Van Wimmer, Mr. Nelson Van Wimmer, 516 North Jackson and George May of Cedar street and Lexington avenue.

ROBBERS PUT MEN IN MARKET ICE BOX

Another robbery was attempted Saturday night, but failed. This time H. Erwing, proprietor of a North Central avenue meat market, was the proposed victim. The robbery was attempted by a white man, a negro and a Mexican.

The trio entered the store and ordered Mr. Erwing and his assistant into the ice box and closed the door. While the victims were attempting to escape from the icy cell the burglar rifled the cash register. The efforts were without result, however, as Mr. Erwing had previously deposited the day's receipts and had even removed the change from the cash register drawer.

SPENCER TRIAL IS ON IN LAKEPORT

LAKEPORT, Calif., Oct. 3.—Not since the last county fair has Lakeport seen the crowds which were on hand today for the opening of the trial of Rev. John A. Spencer for the alleged murder of his wife, Maude Spencer, formerly of Dayton, Ohio.

Difficulty in securing a jury was expected, owing to the wide interest in the case and the fact that the county is split into factions as to the guilt or innocence of the pastor.

Rev. Spencer specifically is charged with having thrown his wife overboard from a canoe one moonlight night while they were enjoying a vacation at Lakeport. Spencer claims his wife fell overboard from the canoe while he was not in the boat.

Charges that Spencer was unduly familiar with Mrs. E. B. Barber while he was in charge of the Fulton, Cal. Presbyterian church, enter into the case.

HELPFUL DISCOURSE AT FIRST BAPTIST

Rev. Ernest E. Ford, pastor of the First Baptist church of Glendale, delivered an interesting and helpful discourse yesterday morning, taking for his subject "We Would See Jesus."

The Scriptural reference was from John 12, the last part of the 21st verse: "Sir, we would see Jesus." He said in part:

"I stand before you very humbly this morning, for I realize that my subject constitutes a cry that is real. It is a universal cry. The little boys and girls among us are crying out to us, 'Please show us Jesus.' All you folks are saying to me as I stand here, 'Tell us more about Jesus.' It is the heart cry of the world. 'Show us Jesus; we want to know more of Him!' The heart of the world is dying for more of His comfort and love."

"The people of the world are hunting a place to rest; they are looking for a tiny nook in this civilization of ours where they can find peace, but they will never secure the tranquility of soul until they have come to the Saviour. There is no resting place but one—Jesus Christ."

"I wouldn't preach a minute if in every man's breast there was not a craving for things that pertain to God. This feeling dates back to the first man, Jesus Christ alone, as revealed in the Gospel Book, will help you to say to God, 'My Father; Where shall we see Jesus today? In nature—in the Christians on earth. Let us see, for they are watching our every move.'"

In the evening Rev. Ford preached on the subject, "Bail or Pardon."

LITTLE CHANGE

"I'm sorry to see you here," said the friend of a convicted bank embezzler.

"Oh, there isn't much change, after all," said the prisoner, cheerfully.

"No."

"You see, I had been shut up in a cage and looking through bars for years before I came here. These bars are just a little thicker, and instead of being brass they are steel."

CUSPIDOR GOING WAY OF BARLEYCORN

In the good old days when people retained their faith in Woodrow Wilson and the poor man's club was "Mike's place around the corner," no home was complete without its cuspidor or spittoon, and the crossroads store would have closed its doors had the box of sawdust in front of the sheetiron stove been abolished. But, as the poets say, "everything is different now." The cuspidor, father's comfort and the bane of mother's life, has passed into oblivion along with the Manhattan cocktail and other concoctions known as "tanglefoot," and the dress with the long train.

Today, a cuspidor in a really modern family is as scarce as a red nose in the W. C. T. U. or a limburger sandwich at an American Legion banquet. Even in the business houses, which, in former days, had a few well-filled boxes of sawdust scattered here and there for the convenience of customers, this token of freedom has disappeared.

No one knows exactly the reason for the passing of the cuspidor, but it is significant that an institution passed about the same time John Barleycorn entered his grave.

The question of whether the passing of the cuspidor may be due to the fact that the menfolk have become more refined with the passing of the saloon and have ceased consuming large and copious quantities of "fine cut," "scrap" and "plug," and then again, it may not. It is a fact there should be some indication of a slump in the sale of "eating tobacco."

A few years ago no hotel lobby was complete without a few tall brass cuspidors arranged artistically among the chairs and lounges. The present-day hotel lobby has substituted an ash tray, mounted on a long stem, like a Shasta daisy. The few homes that still support a spittoon or retain a cuspidor, according to whether they live off or on the avenue, have it camouflaged beyond recognition. The most popular style of cuspidor for the home is in the style of a turtle—you step of its neck and the back opens and there is a cuspidor—you step on its tail and the back closes.

The passing of the cuspidor is sad to contemplate. It is the last tie that binds one to the family circle where mother sat with a bit of sewing, the children were grouped around the table holding the reading lamp, either reading or studying, and father sat near the fire reading the daily paper with his ever-faithful cuspidor at hand. If the passing of this institution is indicative of a more refined race of people, it is to be rejoiced over, if not all that can be said is just: Goodbye; you have served us faithfully and well; rest in peace."

DONATIONS ASKED BY BAPTIST LADIES

The members of the First Baptist church of Glendale will have an active part in filling the "Ship of Fellowship" that will be made up by the Baptists of California for the sufferers of Europe. The members and friends of this church are requested to take all articles of clothing not actually in use to the basement of the church on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons of this week. The side door of the church is left open for the reception of these articles. On Wednesday and Thursday the ladies will meet to arrange the contributions in a form suitable for shipment.

A carload of these articles will be shipped from Southern California to be a part of the boatload to leave San Francisco soon for Europe.

Sixty coconuts to the tree is regarded as a good yield in the Philippine Island plantations, although trees bear as many as 300 good nuts.

SHORT-CHANGE MAN VISITS GLENDAL

Gives $10 Bill, Which He Later Gets Back and Vanishes from Town

Short-change artists are at work in Glendale. L. E. Jackson says that a man approached his store, made a 15-cent purchase and tendered a $10 bill in payment. After he had received his change he asked for the return of the $10 bill, saying that he had found some change in his pocket. This occurred Saturday.

Jackman returned the man's bill and received what he thought was the correct amount of change that he had given the stranger. Later he discovered that in the transaction he had lost $5.

In a report made to the police of the incident the following description of the man was given: He was about 38 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighed about 150 pounds. He had a dark complexion and was wearing dark clothing. Chief Martin is making a request that the police station be notified if the man attempts to transact any further business in this city.

Police officers believe that this man is a member of the same gang that operated in Glendale a few weeks ago. This gang was arrested after having made several local merchants the victims of their operations. When arrested the men claimed that the short changing was not intentional and made good the money. The men could not be held here and were taken to Los Angeles, where county officers held them for 24 hours for investigation and released them.

POOR OUTLOOK FOR WALTON DISCIPLES

Information regarding beach and fresh water fishing for the Glendale devotees to rod and reel outlines a poor outlook for this week-end according to Gus Wangenheim, authority on fishing and hunting at Neale & Gregg's hardware store.

Mr. Wangenheim says that fishing at present is poor on all Southern California beaches. The water is dirty and there are very large ground swells. The rain has done some fishing no good. Deep sea fishermen are still finding good runs of mackerel, yellowtail and albacore from the boats.

Following is a list of the fish that are running at present and where they may be found in, the largest quantities.

Santa Monica—Few mackerel, and smelt. Fishing is not very good here.

Playa del Rey—Mackerel, smelt and croakers.

Manhattan Beach—Smelt, few mackerel and croakers.

Redondo—Mackerel, smelt and few croakers.

Trout fishing will be good until the end of the season as it has rained just enough to cause the streams to start flowing farther down and trout should rise either on flies or eggs.

The rain is also a benefit to the deer hunters. It is bringing the deer out to feed and bringing them down from the high places in quantities. Deer hunting will have improved to a large extent.

SCHOOL CENSUS TO BE TAKEN TUESDAY

School authorities of the state have ordered the annual school census this week. Notices have been printed and generally distributed instructing parents to report to the nearest school tomorrow, October 4, when Glendale schools will concentrate on this registration. One or more teachers at each school will be freed from other duties to receive parents.

The census will include all children between the ages of 3 and 18 years. Under compulsory educational laws, the school authorities must keep in mind the number of the children of school age who will soon become of school age, hence the census; but no provision is made for paying the enumerators so the task is assigned to the teachers who serve without compensation. Every parent is expected to report children of school age on Tuesday and to make it as easy as possible they will be permitted to register at the school house which is nearest whether their children attend that school or not.

NASH SALES SHOW A GOOD INCREASE

E. B. Sutton of the Nash Auto Sales company, 207 North Brand boulevard, says that business is picking up daily.

"The people of Glendale," says Mr. Sutton, "are realizing the value of the automobile when used for both business and pleasure. In business the automobile is an absolute necessity, and when it comes to the pleasure car—well, the fellow who does not own a machine sees only half of the beauties of this old world. The people of Glendale know that's why they are taking to the Nash car."

In addition to other transfers this firm reports the sale of a special model sedan to Mr. and Mrs. Price of the firm of Price and Hanning company, and also a dandy new sport model car to Mr. Towman, manager of the local branch of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

AFTER CHIROPRACTORS

Fine Number—Among the many well received musical selections that were rendered at the banquet of the Glendale chamber of commerce Friday, was the vocal selection of Miss Pansy Sheldon. So well was Miss Sheldon's number received that she was persuaded to respond with an encore.

Fishing Trip—The young people of the Hi-Y society are contemplating a fishing trip in the near future. Arrangements for the affair are now being made. It is the intention of the young people to charter one of the large fishing boats that operate out of Long Beach. They will take their lunch and make a real day of it.

Sermon Series—A series of special sermons on the life of Christ is being prepared and will be started at once by Rev. Ernest E. Ford, pastor of the First Baptist church of Glendale. The first of the series will be given next Sunday morning. To this end, the Bible readings will follow the four Gospels—Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. During the next three months there is just time to go through these four books if one chapter is read each day.

W. C. T. U. Meet—The Women's Christian Temperance Union of the First Baptist church of Glendale will hold its regular monthly meeting Friday at the home of Mrs. Eva Hutton of 326 East Colorado. The subject of the meeting will be "Cooperation with Missions."

C. C. Club Meet—The members of the Christian Circle Club of the First Baptist church will meet in the social basement of the church Tuesday evening, October 11. This will be the reorganization meeting of the club after the summer holidays. Dinner will be served at 5:30, after which a social time will be enjoyed.

Miss Soper Speaks—Miss Soper, who had charge of the young people's work at the John Brown meetings, held in Glendale some time ago, was present at the First Baptist church yesterday and gave a short talk to the young people and urged more intensive Bible study.

Keep a Child—Acting under the auspices of the Near East relief commission, Glendale members of the Carpenters' Local No. 363 has agreed to support one Armenian child. Every member of the local is asked to be present at the meeting tonight and to be prepared to contribute to the monthly fund for the support of the child. H. Van Benthussen has this relief work in charge and will receive the funds.

Artist Hailed—Brahm Van Den Berg, a pianist of international reputation, who is now residing in Glendale, was one of the artists who appeared on the program given at the

FLOOD CONDITIONS IN BLYTHE DISTRICT

Washouts on Roads Cause Temporary Suspension of Operations Today

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 3.—Flood conditions in the Palo Verde and Coachella valleys are serious in the extreme today. The Western Union, operating the only commercial telegraph wire into the Blythe district, reported that its line had failed today. No mail has been received at Blythe since Friday morning.

The Santa Fe and California Southern railroads reported traffic badly hampered by scores of washouts. Occasional supply trains are being pushed through to Blythe, with the train crews doing their own track repairing.

A total suspension of railroad service seemed imminent. Scores of families have fled from their homes before the rising flood waters, which have done heavy damage to ripening cotton crops.

The flood was started by cloud-bursts in the desert northwest of Blythe on Friday and Saturday.

LOCAL PASTORS TO BE HONOR GUESTS

There will be a popular gathering on Wednesday evening at the "Fellowship Supper" at the Presbyterian church. The local pastors and their wives will be present as invited guests, and the members and friends of the congregation will be present in large numbers.

Only those having tickets will be served, and these tickets may be secured from Rev. Louis Tinning today at any time.

This supper is and has been for years the opening of the Bible conference, which lasts through next Sunday.

On Wednesday afternoon D. J. R. Pratt of Pasadena will speak, and in the evening Dr. Cortland Myers of Boston will be on the stand. The public is cordially invited to attend all these gatherings.

Canals of a total mileage of more than 3,000 miles are in use in England.

banquet of the chamber of commerce. Prof. Van Den Berg's selection took the gathering by storm, and at the close of the number all those present sprang to their feet in acclamation of his wonderful ability.

Gets Deer—George Falder of the firm of Falder & Robinson, jewelers, 204 East Broadway, returned to Glendale Saturday with a dandy four-point buck, which he killed in the hills back of Etiwanda, near San Bernardino.

A BIRTHDAY TOAST

Here's that the years may bless
You with their happiness!

Gladness that long endures,
Good luck to you and yours!

Grant you as many more
Years as have gone before!

May they grow rich and sweet,
Pass with reluctant feet.

Leave you some tasks well done
With every passing one.

May all your friendships grow
Dear as the years may go.

May the years bring to you
All of your dreams come true.

Peace, health and gladness be
Here with your family.

So let us raise the glass:
So let the glad toast pass:

"Wife's love and mother's love,
Sister's love, brother's love,
Yes—and all other love,
Bring blessings rife.

Years add their might to it,
Joy and delight to it,
Give us the right to it,
All through this life!"

DAVID S. BISPHAM DEAD IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—David Scull Bisham, one of the foremost figures in the American Grand Opera and Concert field, died Sunday at his apartment at 145 West Fifty-first at Philadelphia, January 5, 1887. He was long associated with the Metropolitan Grand Opera in New York and the Covent Garden Company in London.

Mr. Bisham made his debut after success in amateur work as the Duc de Longueville in "The Bascoche" at the Royal English Opera in London, in November, 1891. His success was immediate and subsequently he sang principal baritone roles at the Royal Opera, Covent Garden, London, and with the Metropolitan Opera Company in New York in German, French and Italian.

PUT S. R. O. SIGN UP AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

In spite of the fact that one of the bungalow additions was on stilts and the main church building partly undermined in preparation for placing it on moving beams, Bible school and church services at the Central Christian church had a record attendance yesterday.

The 300 goal of the Bible school was exceeded by six, and the S. R. O. sign could have been hung out at 11 o'clock for church services, at which Rev. Clifford A. Cole preached, as usual, his theme being: "The Call to the House of God."

He spoke of the faithfulness of the Jewish people in attendance on temple worship and drew lessons for the modern church.

His evening theme was: "Can the Opponents of the Church, of Jesus Christ, Succeed?"

Referring to the beheading of John the Baptist and the hate of Herodias who had shamelessly used her own daughter, Salome, as bait, he spoke of the evils of the modern dance and certain lewd motion pictures as menaces to the church and the welfare of young people. Even as the murder of John the Baptist accelerated the growth of Christ's kingdom, will the efforts of those who would tear down the church of today be defeated, was the preacher's conclusion.

MOTHERS' NIGHT AT PALACE GRAND

The long-awaited-for surprise is here at last. "Tonight is the first "Mothers' Night" at the Palace Grand theatre. This big surprise is promised to be a genuine novelty, for the special amusement of the mothers of Glendale. Nothing is known of the nature of the surprise except that it is not a moving picture.

Tonight will be the last showings of the Carter De Havens in their newest farce comedy, "The Girl in the Taxi," and H. Ford's British Paramount production, "The Call of Youth."

"Passing Thru" and "Unseen Forces" constitute the double bill which comes Tuesday and Wednesday.

It is said a pet canary was recently interred in New York in a tiny coffin, to the music of a brass band and before 500 mourners.

Here's why CAMELS are the quality cigarette

BECAUSE we put the utmost quality into this one brand. Camels are as good as it's possible for skill, money and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos to make a cigarette.

Nothing is too good for Camels. And bear this in mind! Everything is done to make Camels the best cigarette it's possible to buy. Nothing is done simply for show.

Take the Camel package for instance. It's the most perfect packing science can devise to protect cigarettes and keep them fresh. Heavy paper—secure foil wrapping—revenue stamp to seal the fold and make the package air-tight. But there's nothing flashy about it. You'll find no extra wrappers. No frills or furbelows.

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And remember—you must pay their extra cost or get lowered quality.

If you want the smoothest, mellowest, mildest cigarette you can imagine—and one entirely free from cigarettey aftertaste,

It's Camels for you.
